

It had been the resting
Place
Of a family.
But no more
Was it such.

Shoved back –
And pulled away
From the weary
Soul
Who sat in it.

So now it lies
In a damp basement –
In storage –
Forgotten
And dusty.